

Frequently Asked Questions About Deferral

1. A decision on my Early Decision application has been deferred. What does this mean?

The selection committee would like to review your application in the context of the Regular Decision pool. Your decision will be announced in March 2023. Applicants admitted during Regular Decision will have until May 1, 2023 to inform us if they plan to matriculate.

2. If I applied to a Coordinated Dual-Degree, Accelerated, or Specialized Program, will my application be considered again for both the Coordinated Dual-Degree, Accelerated, or Specialized Program and the single-degree school I selected?

Your defer letter will indicate the school or program to which you have been deferred. If you applied to a Coordinated Dual-Degree, Accelerated, or Specialized Program and your letter indicates that you have been deferred to your single-degree choice, then you are only being considered for your single-degree choice. If your letter indicates that you are deferred from your Coordinated Dual-Degree, Accelerated, or Specialized Program, then you are being considered for both your Coordinated Dual-Degree, Accelerated, or Specialized Program and your single-degree choice.

3. a) Will I be required to submit additional materials?

You will be required to submit a Mid-Year Report to update our office on your recent academic performance in school. Your school counselor should submit the Mid-Year Report to us through the Common Application, the Coalition Application, via digital document transfer (Parchment, Naviance, SCOIR, MaiaLearning, Cialfo, Slate.org, etc.) or by email to documents@admissions.upenn.edu by February 15, 2023.

b) Should I send any other supplementary materials?

If you would like to send additional information that sheds new light on your candidacy, please submit your update through your Penn Applicant Portal. Our form will only allow you to submit an update once, so we recommend you take time to collect any new information or recognition you may have earned since submitting your Early Decision application and upload one comprehensive document by February 15, 2023.

4. I did not submit test scores as part of my Early Decision application. Do I have the option to submit them for consideration in Regular Decision?

Yes. You do have the option to submit test scores. You can update your selection on your Penn Applicant Portal.

5. What are my chances of being admitted in Regular Decision?

Deferred applicants will be reviewed again in Regular Decision along with all Regular Decision applicants, and we plan to communicate admissions decisions in late March 2023. As a deferred applicant, you are not bound to Penn. You may apply elsewhere, and we urge all deferred applicants to consider other college options in addition to Penn. Last year, the selection committee admitted approximately 10% of candidates whose applications were deferred to Regular Decision.

6. If I am admitted, will I still be considered for financial aid?

Yes. If you applied for financial aid, that application will still be evaluated at the time of your admission. If you are admitted and have submitted all required forms for financial aid, you will receive your financial aid package in March 2023. Please check the Student Financial Aid requirements for Regular Decision applicants.
